BIOGRAPHY

'No Worries If Not' is a high-energy electronica music duo designed to make people dance. A trip to Berlin, a few late nights and a lot of French Disco inspires sleek, wry, deadpan technopop that sits somewhere between Confidence Man, Sparks and The Pet Shop Boys.

High-energy live performances that involve matching oversized blazers, baguettes and gold bodysuits have made 'No Worries If Not' a distinct and memorable live act.

Their sound blends tongue-in-cheek lyrical production with a range of musical genres including techno, disco, drum and bass, and 80s electronica.

The duo supported Say She She on their Cut & Rewind EU/UK tour at the O2 Academy and were semi-finalists at the Musical Comedy Awards 2025. They also recently supported Dogshow (woof!) on the last date of their 2025 tour at The Bullingdon.

BIG BAGUETTE

"Big Baguette" is No Worries If Not's debut single - a techno-electronica track built around catchy vocal samples, techno drums, disco-inspired bongos. With distorted synths, techno drums and deadpan vocal delivery, it's an infectious dance track that doesn't take itself too seriously.

REVIEWS

A man and a woman are shown from the chest up, facing each other. The man on the left has a beard and is wearing a dark pinstriped jacket over a black shirt. The woman on the right has long, wavy brown hair and is wearing a black blazer over a black lace top. Both are wearing dark sunglasses. The background is dark and out of focus.

Daily Info Oxford

"Distinctly post-brat in their sound, stylish, synthy and irrepressibly silly."

Nightshift

'No Worries if Not' are an absolute joy. The duo's opening song finds them performing a choreographed dance with baguettes before turning Robbie Willaim's 'Rock DJ' into a robopop banger. They marry Confidence Man's irresistible disco to Client's more austere synth pop [...] They are very silly, very kitsch and very, very good.
